DOG DAYS STUFF

By Westa

"WHY is it those Japanese can't play baseball" asked Harry Hill, the well known bleacherite, after the game Sunday. "In practice," he added, "they look like hot patooties, but gettum in a game and bloole, they wilt."

Well, Harry, ol' timer, your question is not hard to answer, the answer being: The Japanese can't play baseball because they are the world's worst printers. Moreover, the Japanese never will be really good at baseball until they first learn how to manufacture books and newspapers.

Undoubtably, when Harry finds these strange assertions staring at him between mouthfuls of his breakfast bacon and eggs and cornmeal mush this morning he will say to himself:

"I'll say its dog days for that guy! The old heat has percolated through his solid ivory bean at last!"

Nevertheless, them is true words. The Japanese can't play baseball because they haven't yet learned how to print books or newspapers.

All of which is simply another way of saying that poor eyesight is a national characteristic of the Japanese, the reason for it being the fact that all the popular Japanese publications—books, newspapers, magazines—are printed in type that is so small and so close together, and so indistinct that those who are compelled to read it soon find their vision impaired. And as the Japanese are great readers and students it follows as a natural corollary that practically all of them, including their ball players, have imperfect vision.

Some of those who have sought to analyse the Japanese weakness at baseball have mistakenly attributed their failure to rise to great heights in this game that they apparently have adopted as their national pastime to their small stature. But that is not the main reason. In America it has been demonstrated that small men can play baseball as well as big ones, although it can't be denied, of course, that size and bulk give pitchers an advantage.

Outside of the pitching department, however, it has yet to be proven that size is an advantage. Witness the success achieved by such men as Johnny Evers, Everitt Scott, Jack Barry, Joe Tinker, Stuffy McInnis, Rabbit Maranville, Heinie Groh, Donnie Bush, Billy Keeler, Eddie Hahn, Ray Schalk, and George Sisler, the last named being now regarded as the greatest player in the game, with a swatting average away over .400.

The Japanese could play great baseball, in spite of their stature, if they had better vision. In the few years they have been at the game they have turned out some wonderful fielders—players who could catch and throw as well as American professionals, but never yet have they produced a good batting aggregation, and that can be explained in only one way—poor eyesight.

Imperfect vision, especially when it is only slightly imperfect, does not put the same handicap upon fielding as it does on batting, particularly when the batting is against fast pitching. In American professional baseball there is hardly a team that does not have a "sun fielder" or two wearing smoked glasses when on the defensive, but you will always notice that when these sun fielders come to bat they leave their cheaters behind, well knowing that they would be helpless without command of their full resources of eye power.

Japan has compulsory education, and with that a very low percentage of illiteracy, the figure being less than five percent. They not only have to read, but they want to read, and as a nation they perhaps are the greatest of all readers. This is further reflected in the fact that nearly all Japanese, long before they reach middle life, use glasses.

In the Western countries the printing art has reached a much higher development than in Japan, due partly to the efforts of educational propagandists, and partly to the greater skill of printers, in England and America great attention is given to the size and face of type used in books, magazines and newspapers, by publishers who are driven both by altruism and by

Prince Louis Honore Rules Monaco

FOLLOWING the death of his father, Prince Albert Honore Charles, Prince Louis Honore has become the ruler of Monaco, in which Monte Carlo, the gambling resort, is the chief city. Prince Louis is fifty-one and served in the French army in the World War. He is the son of his father's first marriage, to Lady Mary Douglas Hamilton, who had her marriage annulled by the Vatican on the ground that she had been forced into it by her mother and Napoleon III. The civil decree held that the marriage should be regarded as never having taken place, but Prince Louis was declared legitimate. Lady Mary carried her son to Italy, and his father made an attempt to kidnap him, which embittered the son against the father, and a reconciliation was not effected for many years.

BANKERS OPPOSE REMOVAL OF SAH FROM MINT POST

Minister Of Finance Said To Be Planning To Place Own Man In Office

A storm of protests has been raised in Peking banking circles on account of the attempt of Tung Kung, Minister of Finance, to remove Mr. Sah Fu-mou, director of the Shanghai Mint, in order to place his own man Hsiang Hsiang, retiring vice-minister of Finance in the position.

Tung intended to propose the name of Hsiang as Sah's successor at the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday, but on account of the non-presence of Dr. Wang Chung-hui, Acting Premier, the matter had to be delayed.

It is understood that the Cabinet bankers, who are creditors of the Shanghai Mint, will prevent Hsiang from coming to assume his office, if the proposal passes the Cabinet.

Balfour Explains Position Of England On Debts

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 1.—The British Government has prepared a Note with regard to reparations and inter-Governmental indebtedness, which it is circulating to the Allied Governments.

The Note indicates the British Government's doubt whether, in view of the attitude of the United States with regard to the payment of debts to America, Great Britain will be able to carry out the suggestion that she should take the lead in a comprehensive settlement of inter-governmental indebtedness by remitting the European debts to Great Britain.

Great Britain has addressed a Note to France, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Rumania and Portugal, explaining that following the United States' demand for repayment of the British debt to America, amounting to £850,000,000 Great Britain is compelled to require repayment of the Allies' debts to Britain, amounting to £1,028,000,000.

The Note emphasises the great reluctance of the British Government to abandon the idea of relinquishing all war-debts and reparations but explains that Great Britain cannot pay America while forgiving the Allies their debts. The Allies will only be asked to repay sufficient sums to enable Britain to repay America.

The Note admits that the United States is only exercising her undoubted rights in pressing for repayment of the Anglo-American debt but contends that it cannot be right that one partner in a common enterprise should recover all she lent and another, while recovering nothing, should be required to repay all she borrowed, which procedure cannot be accepted by the British people who are suffering an unparalleled burden in taxation, immense diminution of national wealth and serious unemployment.

It points out that a large part of the British debt to America was incurred on behalf of France, Italy and Belgium and that Great Britain's debt to America is only about a quarter of the total war debts due to Great Britain from the Allies and Russia and Germany, namely £3,400,000,000. It says that under no circumstances do we propose to ask for more from our debtors than is necessary to pay our creditors.

The Note concludes that the Government does not suggest either as a matter of justice or of expediency, that Germany should be relieved of her obligation to France or to the other Allied States, but so deeply is it convinced of the economic injury inflicted upon the world by the existing state of things that it would be prepared, subject to the just claims of the other parts of the British Empire, to abandon all further rights to German reparation and to all claims of repayment by the Allies provided that the great problem could be dealt with as a whole and find a satisfactory solution.

A copy of the Note, which was prepared by the Earl of Balfour and approved by a majority of the Cabinet, has been handed to the American Ambassador as an act of courtesy.

Strike In Italy Is Called Failure

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, August 2.—The day passed quietly. The public services were maintained regularly everywhere. The railwaymen remained at work, soldiers and Fascisti replacing the strikers. The only disturbances were a fight between Communists and Fascisti at Genoa, where two Communists were hurt, and a collision at Leghorn where a number of persons were injured. The strike has been a complete failure in many towns.

Litigant Loses Two Jobs; Asks Tls. 25,000 Damages

Hearing of a suit for the recovery of damage in the sum of Tls. 25,000 filed by Mr. Harry B. Campbell against Mr. H. Greunebaum, as Managing Director of Sonn Brothers Import and Export Company, opened yesterday before Judge C. S. Lobingier in the United States Court for China.

The action, which is based upon an allegation that Mr. Campbell was induced to enter the employ of Sonn Brothers through misrepresentation, is the first trial of the long calendar of civil cases before the U. S. Court for China. Mr. Cornell S. Franklin is representing Mr. Campbell and Mr. F. J. Schuhl is appearing for Mr. Greunebaum. In the course of yesterday's session of court the direct testimony of the plaintiff was heard and testimony for the plaintiff also was given by Mr. T. E. Doremus, General Eastern Manager of the Du Pont de Nemours Export Company whose employ Mr. Campbell left to join Sonn Brothers.

In outlining the case of the plaintiff Judge Franklin said it was by reason of the fraudulent engagement of Mr. Campbell and his subsequent dismissal that he incurred losses amounting to Tls. 25,000. Mr. Schuhl, answering for the defendant, asserted that an employment agreement had been made between Sonn Brothers and Mr. Campbell and he contended that as this had been terminated by mutual agreement after all payments due Mr. Campbell had been met by the firm no claim for damages properly could be made.

CAMPBELL TAKES STAND

On taking the stand Mr. Campbell said he was 46 years old and had resided in Shanghai for three years, having been employed by the Du Pont Company in Honolulu before he came here. He said his acquaintance with Mr. Greunebaum dated from December of 1918 when Mr. Greunebaum was passing through Honolulu and he added that at that time Mr. Greunebaum spoke of offering him a position in Shanghai.

Mr. Campbell said he came from Honolulu to Shanghai about three years ago, remaining in the employ of the Du Pont company in detail he told of negotiations and conversations held with Mr. Greunebaum concerning the offer of a position with Sonn Brothers which, he subsequently accepted. In the course of his testimony numerous arguments on points of law were interposed by Mr. Schuhl and Judge Franklin.

Mr. Campbell said that at the time the position with Sonn Brothers was being offered Mr. Greunebaum told him a reorganisation of the company was being carried forward and gave assurance that the financial condition of Sonn Brothers was strong. Greunebaum also asserted that he had obtained a number of valuable exclusive agencies in Shanghai, the witness related, and estimated that the firm would do a business of a million and a half dollars annually.

BASIS OF SUIT

Mr. Campbell said that he was given to believe that excellent opportunities awaited him and by reason of those assurances he gave up his position with the Du Pont company, after joining Sonn Brothers. The witness then told at length of conditions he encountered when he went to work for Sonn Brothers, saying he found that things had been grossly misrepresented. He also explained the value of the position he had left which had carried a salary of about Tls. 900 a month and provided for free insurance, traveling expenses and other concessions.

Mr. Campbell said in conversations he had held with Mr. J. McDonnell, Manager of the company, and with Mr. T. R. Scanlon it had developed that contrary to information on Mr. Gruenebaum had given him, the financial condition of the company was not as represented and he added that it did not control valuable agencies. Mr. Campbell said he was dismissed when a telegram had arrived from New York appointing Mr. Scanlon liquidator and instructing him to dismiss all hands.

Mr. Doremus in testifying substantiated what Mr. Campbell had said concerning his employment with the Du Pont company, explaining that Mr. Campbell was holding a permanent position with the Du Pont company when he left its employ and that his services were satisfactory.

The trial is to be continued.

PARLIAMENT WILL CONVENE ON SATURDAY; CABINET, ISSUE

Difference Of Opinion On "First Duty"

LI'S ATTITUDE

Dr. Yen Eager To Go To Washington, Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 2.—The House of Representatives and the Senate will meet again on Saturday when the question of its attitude towards the Cabinet will be discussed. Some members, realising the difficulties surrounding the question, are in favor of concentrating on the drafting of the Constitution while others think that the original plan of settling the elections of the President and the Cabinet Ministers should be their first duty.

In this connection it has been pointed out that President Li Yuan-hung announced prior to taking office that he would retire when Parliament reassembled but Dr. Wang Chung-huai states that he will not accept the Acting Premiership unless President Li Yuan-hung selects the full Cabinet and as no one wants President Li Yuan-hung to go out of office at present, efforts are being made to induce him to leave the matter of his status in the hands of Parliament.

This seems the most likely course as it would only entail a short delay in which the present Cabinet confusion might be put straight.

No business was transacted at yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet as no one was eligible to preside in the absence of the Premier and the Foreign Minister who replaces the former if he is absent. Thus Cabinet business is at present at a standstill.

Mr. Alfred Sze who is en route to China has been mentioned most prominently as Foreign Minister and efforts are being made to induce Dr. Wellington Koo to accept the portfolio. Dr. W. W. Yen, who is taking a holiday at Peitaiho, apparently wants the post at Washington, while President Li Yuan-hung is urging him to re-enter the Cabinet which seems unlikely.

COUNCIL PLACES RESTRICTIONS ON ALL LOTTERIES

Exact Terms Of Licenses To Be Issued Published In Municipal Gazette

Following the announcement of the Municipal Council's purpose to place drastic restrictions upon lotteries in the International Settlement through issuance of licenses, conditions under which licenses to hold lotteries may be obtained are set forth in detail in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette.

Under the new regulations only lotteries for charitable and quasi-charitable purposes and lotteries to assist or promote the sale of an article of trade may be held. In general conditions governing issuance of licenses for both charitable and trade lotteries are the same. In the case of lotteries for charitable purposes no cash prizes may be offered but no limit is placed upon the value of prizes that may be given. In the case of lotteries to assist the sale of an article of trade, however, the condition concerning prizes is more sweeping, for in this form of lottery not only no cash prize or prize exchangeable for cash may be offered but no prize exceeding $10 in value may be offered.

In connection with lotteries to promote sale of articles of trade licensees also are required to furnish to the police so far as possible names and addresses of shops selling goods in connection with the lottery.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

The general conditions governing issuance of licenses for lotteries are as follows:

1.—That the licence be not transferable.

2.—That no alteration be made in the conditions governing the lottery without the permission of the Council.

3.—That all promoters of the lottery be permanent residents of Shanghai.

4.—That no cash prizes or prizes exchangeable for cash be given.

5.—That the licensee furnish the police or other duly authorised officers of the Council with proof that the lottery is bona fide and that he or the promoters are in a position to meet all obligations to which he or they are committed by it.

6.—That all printed matter in connection with the lottery contain the name and business address of the printer.

7.—That all documents and account books in connection with the lottery be open to the inspection of duly authorised officers of the Council.

8.—That the Police be apprised beforehand of all drawings which shall be conducted in public and on a system approved by the Council and be held at a time and date when the public can conveniently attend.

9.—That no gratuities of any kind be paid any employee of the Council.

10.—That on a breach of any of its conditions the licence be subject to withdrawal or suspension by the Council and the whole or any part of the money deposited as security be liable to forfeiture at the option of the Council, and that the licensee be liable to prosecution.

competition to use only the best that brains can conceive or that money can buy. In New York there are men who derive tremendous incomes from their knowledge of type, which includes their skill and knowledge in designing and selecting type that is easy to read. Benjamin Sherbrow, one of these type experts, travels about the country giving lectures in big printing establishments on the proper use of type, his charge for this being the modest sum of two hundred gold dollars per lecture.

Contrast such efforts as these to the practice in Japan, where the type, hard to read in the first place, is jammed tightly together, and printed in almost all instances on very poor quality paper, even Japanese novels being printed on cheap news print paper.

Japanese baseball players, therefore, are under the constant and practically universal handicap of poor vision, which is the one big reason why they can't stand up against swift pitching. True, some of their college teams have defeated good American college nines, but in most of those games, if you noticed, their victories were gained more by good pitching and fast fielding than by heavy batting.

You can't have a nation of Babe Ruths unless you have a nation of keen visioned youths. They may look like hot patooties when they are out there practicing, but when they get into a game, and have to bat, it is a case of "you can't hit 'em when you can't see 'em."

That is the main reason why they wilt.

Guide Book To Pootoo Written By Mrs. Ayscough

An interesting booklet on the sacred Island of Pootoo has just been issued by Harvey's Advertising Agency. The fascinating story of this island is told by Mrs. Florence Ayscough, who has utilised the various sources of information available to the student. It is written primarily as a guide book, but it gives much more than the average book of that description, for while it supplies all the requisite information desired by the sightseer, yet it has about it the charm of the many legends which surround the island.

Included in the booklet are two maps, one showing the location of the island, and another outlining the positions of the various monasteries and shrines with which the island is filled. Mrs. Asycough gives a short history of Buddhism, as well as the history of the island, with a description of the monasteries, their architecture, decorations and carvings.

German Soldiers To Settle In Russia

(Reuter's Service)

Warsaw, June 20.—Thousands of German ex-service men are founding colonies in South Russia, according to reports published here from Odessa. In the neighborhood of the latter city large tracts of "nationalised" land have already been taken up by these colonists at the invitation of the Bolshevik Government.

Within the next two years the Soviets plan to establish 100,000 of these German colonists in South Russia.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

'FRAME-UP,' SAYS INDIAN ACCUSED OF $1,000 THEFT

Further Inquiry Is Ordered In British Police Court

An adjournment until today was ordered by Magistrate G. W. King in the British Police Court yesterday in the case of Ojagar Singh, an Indian, who is charged with breaking into a watchman's hut on Gordon Road and stealing promissory notes valued at $1,000, one $100 note, jewelry worth Rupees 150 and $2 in silver. The remand is to permit of further inquiry.

Mr. R. C. Faithfull, who appeared for the police, in outlining the case, said that the accused had been taken into the hut by the complainant when he asked for charity and said he had nowhere to sleep. Later, accused was left in the hut alone. Two or three days previously he had seen a loan of $100 repaid to complainant by a Chinese and seen that the money was placed away in a locked box. When arrested, he was in the company of a Chinese and had in his possession a bottle of whisky. He had previously invited the Chinese to a motor car ride for which he had paid $8 cash. There were several promissory notes in his possession, but he claimed that these were his property.

The watchman complainant in his testimony corroborated Mr. Faithfull's statement. On the night of the robbery, he went to his work at 6 p.m., leaving accused in the hut by himself. When he returned at 5 a.m., accused was gone, the locked box had been broken into, and the articles mentioned in the charge had been stolen.

The accused declared that on the night in question he had slept outside because it was too warm in the hut. He asserted that the complainant was making a false charge against him in order to obtain possession of the jewelry which had been entrusted to him.

Mr. King thought that further investigation should be made, inasmuch as the complainant had produced no record of the lost promissory notes.

Yearly Catalog Issued By Shanghai College

The annual catalog of Shanghai College has just been issued and about 3,000 copies are being mailed to addresses in China, America and elsewhere. The booklet of some 140 pages contains illustrations of the chief buildings on the college campus, some of which have been completed this year and others of which are under construction.

The college bulletin, issued concurrently with the catalog, announces that the student body has reached 175 in the college and that the total enrollment in all departments is 450. Only one other Christian college in China has a larger college enrollment. More students are enrolled for the ministry than in any other Christian College in China.

The catalog, noting that the college encourages students to decide early upon their profession, lists six series of study groups. One group prepares for teaching another the ministry, and courses are offered in the social sciences, in natural science and in the liberal arts. The school term begins this fall on September 14.

Shanghai College is now a co-educational institution. Work on a woman's building, which is to be the largest on the campus, was started recently. Temporary accommodations were provided last year for the ten women who matriculated.

The college staff includes twenty-six foreigners and a similar number of Chinese. Five of the college's former students, who have returned from a period of study in America, are on the staff.

The institution has a plant of 300 mow or fifty English acres, and when all the buildings are erected for which there are funds, there will be nine large buildings and twenty smaller ones, which include, or will include, an electric light plant, a gas plant and a campus water works.

The Junior Academy building has been completed this year. Work is nearly finished on the large science hall, donated anonymously some time ago. A senior academy building is also under construction.

The Whangpoo Conservancy Board is about to fill in by dredging from the river an area of some twenty acres of the campus. On that ground will be constructed besides further buildings, an athletic track.

The Southern Board of the Baptist Church, the college being operated jointly by the Northern and Southern bodies in America, has appropriated funds for raising the land, and for constructing two dwellings, an academy building and a kindergarten normal building. The cost of the total will approximate $200,000.

Dr. F. J. White is president of the college, and Chen Chong Ching-chy Chen vice-president. Dr. C. Hart Westbrook is dean.

SOVIETS PLAN TO CUT PRODUCTION TO REVIVE TRADE

Lack Of Working Capital Big Drawback In Russia

(Reuter's Service)

Moscow, June 14.—Limitation of production and probably the closing down of several factories have been recommended by a special commission of experts in a report to the Council of Labor and Defence as a means of weathering the industrial crisis, which after a few months of revival of Russian trade, has again become acute.

Since 1918 the Soviet Government has many times been obliged to resort to limitation of industry due to shortage of fuel, raw materials or food, but the cause of the present stringency is different. Limited sales, bad trade connections with the provinces, and the insufficiency of working capital at the disposal of the various government trusts and syndicates all have contributed to the present situation.

Since the inauguration of the new economic policy the various nationalised industries have been combined in trusts and syndicates and reorganised to work on a commercial basis.

All such concerns have been deprived of government supplies and their employees no longer are rationed.

Having begun with very small capital at a time when the Soviet rouble was continuously depreciating in purchasing power, they had to fall back upon their old stocks and later they began to increase production in order to manufacture sufficient goods to obtain funds for future operations.

As a result the markets soon were flooded with goods. Owing to the abnormality of trade conditions and the low purchasing power of the rouble, these goods could neither be sold freely to wholesalers nor direct to consumers.

The commission proposes that practically every industry should be curtailed. The program fixes the following percentages of reduction: Coal industry by 15 percent; mines by 33 percent; gold and platinum by 12 percent; salt, 33 percent; metal, six to seven percent; cotton textiles, 25 percent; wool, 20 percent; flax, 20 percent; silk, 10 percent; leather, 15 percent; chemical, five percent; glass 64 percent; China, 34 percent.

The commission also reports that production has fallen greatly in comparison with pre-war output, the ratio being from seven and one-half percent in the metal industry up to 61 percent in the electrical.

Industrial Life, in a recent issue, says that the new bankruptcy law, now being drafted, will provide that the Government shall not be responsible for the debts of State managed concerns. This decree, however, has not yet been adopted by the Council of Commissars.

15th Infantry Takes Far Eastern Army Title

Second Straight Win Over Fort Mills Nine Decides Honor

Tientsin, July 31.—George Clinton Madge again shut out the Fort Mills team Sunday afternoon, four runs to nothing. Madge also connected for three hits in four times at bat—one triple, a double and one single. He disposed of nine batters by the strikeout route and generally pitched a magnificent game.

The Army thereby wins the championship of the Philippines Division, winning two games straight.

The game Saturday belonged to the Army all the way. Fort Mills team never getting within long range of the plate. They played one of the strongest attacking games of the season, in spite of six scattered errors.

In the second inning, Chaplain Storaalsi, of the Fort Mills team, stopped the game and preached a sermon to McChrystal on the misdeeds of Umpire Harrs, but to no effect. Harrs umpired a clean game all the way through and called them just as he was able to judge. If he gave strikes on a few low ones, he also gave ball's on a few just a little higher, and moreover was absolutely impartial. No one could have done better.

One of the prettiest plays of the year was made by McChrytal to third base, after fooling the runner off the bag with a feint to home. It was not technically difficult but was prettily executed.

If Fort Mills beat everything in the Islands, then the Philippines must have had an off season, or else the team is sadly off color. Of course, they may not see real baseball in that part of the world, and are therefore none the wiser. Against the original Ninth Cavalry and the 4th Philippines, who visited Tientsin the past few years, the Fort Mills aggregation would have not the ghost of a chance. As it is the 15th Infantry are much too good for them.

During the progress of the game, a provost guard attempted to remove a soldier diligently rooting for his own side. As he was being hustled past the grand stand, Colonel Martin, sitting near the end, stood up and ordered the provost guard to release the man and allow him to return to his rooting. Colonel Martin's gracious act was loudly cheered by the soldiers who saw the incident. The civilian fans also appreciated the action.

Madge played the whole game from beginning to end and won it. Almost every time he decided to give his team-mates a chance to show what they could do, they either muffed, booted or juggled the ball until Madge gave them up as almost hopeless and decided to win the game by himself. He did.

This is the first time in Tientsin that a lone player has defeated a champion team and this star pitcher, catcher, short stop, first baseman and general all-round player, Madge, did it.

Madge was also the Babe Ruth of the game and brought in or made two out of the four runs made by his team. It was Madge's double that brought the run in over the pan in the first inning and that run would have been enough. There have been, and are, many good ball players in Tientsin but Madge is, without any doubt, the king of them all.

That this player is, by a long way, the most popular ball player in Tientsin, today, is a certainty and what is more, he deserves to be.

As far as the visitors are concerned, they did their best. They have had a long winter and spring schedule to play out and are, perhaps, not as good as they have been. But that does not make any difference as far as Sunday's game is concerned. Madge would have won, against any other team in the East.

The "15th" as a whole did not back Madge up as they should have. They made six errors and twice put their twirler in a hole. Both times he rose to the occasion and retired his opponents.

In the second, Fort Mills became dangerous with men on second and third and two out. Madge struck Massie out, retiring the side.

Again in the seventh with two down, errors allowed Fort Mills players to fill the bases. Madge struck Munford out and this same Munford is some hitter.

The box score.

THOUGHTS AT FORTY

In the care of his health a man, it has been said, is either a fool or a physician at 40. For the average man it should not be difficult to be healthy and in his prime at that age.

With the weaker sex the case is different, for this age is liable to bring with it anxieties and health trials; nevertheless, many women suffer more than they need.

Actually, whether the individual be a man or woman, if the ailment arise from anaemia, nervousness, indigestion, or fickle health connected with a faulty blood-supply, the remedy is new blood. So, if blood troubles have assailed you, if your nerves are weak, if you lack stamina, and your health is not what it should be, you can enjoy new health by the simple expedient of renewing your blood.

To renew your blood begin today a short course of Dr. Williams' pink pills; then as the new blood which they make flows through your veins you will gain fresh energies, new strength, a keen appetite, and full, vigorous health. If a man, you will know the joy it is to be strong; if a women, you will be gratified with your bright, womanly health.

Any dealer can supply you with Dr. Williams' pink pills, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, 1 bottle for $1.50, 6 bottles for $8, post free.

Write for a free book of health, by postcard to the above address.

Shanghai Takes An Easy Game From Isabel, 13 To 3

Local Team Fattens Averages Against Inferior Pitching

Shanghai baseball players fattened up their averages yesterday in the game against the little warship Isabel. The local men got 14 hits in six innings of batting. Thatch counted four hits in as many trips to the plate. French took credit for three hits out of four trips. He homered twice. Scott, Kingman and Jack Smith also helped their batting figures along. Hopkins, pitching, had an easy time earning the win. He might have worked Hager, the American School youngster after the second inning when the local's had a 6-2 lead, or after the fourth when Shanghai led 13-2, but he finished the job himself.

The game was not of the first order, though to the baseball-hungry fans it was easy to watch. Shanghai ran away with the score from the opening frames and were never threatened. Smith, for the Navy was not effective. Mason who relieved him in the sixth arrived too late. Hopkins had nothing against the sailors, but he got by nicely, on working corners, good support, and batting weakness on the part of the opposition.

French made the circuit twice on drives to left and center. He also counted a nice single to short. Thatch's hitting was a feature. Kingman batted .500 percent including one circuit clout to deep center.

Runs for the most part came clean. But few errors figured. No misplays were vital. The sailors scored in the first inning on Knearl's homer. Their runs in the second inning resulted from Hopkin's pass to McLoughlin, a steal and a succeeding single by Hawley. In the sixth Jones singled, stole second and third and came in on Hawley's second hit.

French's two homers drove in five runs. Kingman's four-base drive came when none were on. The six runs in the fourth had a walk, two bunglies and five healthy hits behind them. Scott toured the bags on a single to center when three were on, and Jones fumbled the ball. Jones followed with a muff of Hopkins' easy fly and Hirsh and Wood singled bringing in the last two runs.

The score follows:

Shanghai	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Mason ss	4	3	4	0	3	0

Scott 3b	2	1	1	0	1	0

"Health Better than it has been for Years."

Our portrait is of Mrs. WOODROW, of 58, Robinson Road, Tooting, London, England, whose husband writes:

"My wife has suffered very badly for the past four or five years with Piles, being unable to sleep at night or get any relief during the day. She tried several advertised remedies, none of which did her any good. Some three weeks ago she thought she would try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and before she had taken half a bottle she was better, and by the time she had finished the second bottle she was quite cured. She can now sleep well, eat well, and get about her work, and her general health is better than it has been for years." In a further letter some eight months later Mr. Woodrow writes: "I am pleased to say that since my wife's cure of Piles in September, 1918, there has been no sign of return of the trouble."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious. Of all Dealers. Ask for and see you get

PERFIDY CHARGED TO TOKIO CABINET BY WORKINGMEN

Dispute Over Method Of Choosing Envoys To Conference

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 28.—Considerable agitation is going on among factory workers over the way in which their delegates to the fourth Labor Conference at Geneva this autumn are to be chosen. According to statements issued by the Foreign Office, one delegate is to be chosen from among the workers, another is to represent the capitalists, and two the Government.

With regard to the Government delegates Mr. Minoichiro Adachi, Minister to Belgium, and Mr. Hitoshi Doke, chief of the Agriculture Bureau in the Department of Agriculture and Commerce, have been chosen.

No selection has yet been made as regards the other delegates.

According to the official program published, all Government and private factories employing 300 or more workers are entitled to nominate candidates in proportion to the number of workers employed, and from among them the delegate will be elected.

The workers complain that in making the selection of the delegate to the first Labor Conference candidates were nominated from all factories employing 200 or more workers while in the present instance the level has been raised to 300.

They allege that in the first and succeeding elections the authorities brought pressure to bear upon the workers so that a man satisfactory to the Government might be chosen.

They now insist this time on being allowed to elect a man genuinely representing their interests.

There is another section of workers who consider the Labor Conference as a sham, intended to further the interests of capitalists, and they refuse to take any part in the election of a delegate.

The Labor Treaty adopted at the first Labor Conference was referred to the Privy Council by the Government, but despite repeated sittings held by the Council to discuss it, it has not yet been passed.

MARKS DECLINE

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 1.—The news that the meeting of the Premiers had been fixed for Monday next imparted a brighter tone to the London exchange market. German marks today recovered sharply to 2075 but on the appearance of renewed offerings marks receded again to 3010.

London, July 31.—The demoralisation of the German mark today caused a general unsettlement of the London foreign exchange market. Marks were sold down to .3040 to the pound and, after wide fluctuations, the closing rate was 2,940 to the pound.

FINANCE

Bar Silver dropped on the 20th to 35⅛ ready and forward, rose to 35⅛ ready and 35⅝ forward on the 21st, dropped to 35 ready and forward on the 26th at which latter rate the market closed. New York-London cross rate dropped to 445¼ on the 20th, rising to 446⅛ and finally receded to 445 on the 26th. The official T.T. rate for Sterling dropped to 3s. 6d. on the 20th, advanced to 3s. 6½d. on 24th, the market closing firm with sellers up to 3s. 7d. 4 m-s. Credits Bills were bought as low as 3s. 2⅝d. but the market ruled much firmer towards the week-end. Chinese market rates: Shanghai Taels dropped from 97.3625 to 97.1. Local currency $70.3. Native interest 11 percent per annum.

EXPORTS

Business has again been slack, but a fair amount of inquiries for produce have been in the market. Cow hides are steady in America and Europe, but stocks are low here, and prices very firm. There is still a demand from America for wood oil. Small purchases of broad beans and peas have been made by buyers in the United Kingdom and Rotterdam, and business is also reported on a small scale in China grass, bristles and gallnuts. On the whole prospects appear brighter.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods:—Another week of very little business, the market being lifeless throughout. No inquiry.

Yarn:—no change.

'DIVINE' SOLDIERS ON RAMPAGE IN EAST SZECHUEN

Destroy Catholic Mission And Kill Converts

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Ichang, July 28.—The district of Shihnan, to the south-west of this place, has been in a very disturbed state for several years. It was from that district the "divine soldiers" appeared, to meet with such ruthless treatment about a year ago when they tried to take the city of Wanhsien.

The Roman Catholic Mission here has received reliable news from the district of Li-Chuan, which is a "hsien" in the Shihnan prefecture, that the "divine soldiers" have risen again there, and that they have been attacking all and sundry, both Christian and heathen, who will not join in with the movement, killing those who refuse to become members of their body.

They attacked and destroyed the Roman Catholic Church in Li-chuan, and killed some of the Christians. The fathers and nuns of the convent have had to leave, and are believed to be on the way to Wanhsien seeking for safety there. Also it is reported that a postal courier has been murdered.

General Chao, who holds the title of Defence Commissioner of Ichang and Shihnan, went to Shihnan last year and put down the whole movement. It is likely that he will have to make a move against this recrudescence. Another illustration of the over-supply of tonnage on the Ichang-Chungking run is the fact that the steamer Fook-Yuen flying the French flag, was in port for twelve days, waiting for cargo. She left only this morning for Chungking with a full cargo.

Some of the other ships would have to spend about as long, but the Standard Oil Co. is rushing case oil to the west, and many of them fill up with that when there is not sufficient general cargo offering.

The Alice Dollar has now come up from Shanghai, and has made her first trip for this year to Chungking. She was held up at Shanghai waiting for the settlement of a Customs difficulty. Messrs. Jardine's new boat, the Fuhwo, is expected to arrive any day, and then there will be 14 large steamers on the run, and also one steamer run by each of the two P.I. companies.

Ichang had a wonderful rainstorm the other night, but it may not be quite a record. After a calm and fairly cool day, a storm-cloud came up about seven o'clock, and it was not long till we were right in the center of a big thunderstorm, the rain descending in torrents.

The register at the Customs gave a rainfall of 6½ inches for about the same number of hours, but most of it must have fallen in between one and two hours.

The river has been high. It reached its highest point for this year the day before yesterday, when 44' 5" were registered. It is now falling.

This will enable some of the Chungking steamers which have been delayed to get away.

FENG, CHRISTIAN GENERAL, TAKES HARD REVENGE

(China Press Correspondence)

Chengteh, Honan, August 1.—Short was the shrift accorded the troops under Wang Chuan-kuei who have been stationed here for some months. They are now disbanded, cashiered without pay and suffering penalty of being shot if they do not return at once to their homes, while their leader, General Wang was publicly executed by shooting.

Such is the vengeance of Feng Yu-hsiang, Christian Tuchun of Honan.

Feng sent an order some days ago that the troops under Wang's command should be disbanded and sent home. Wang could not see it that way. He is no Christian, and openly scoffed at the story that General Feng's prayers had brought rain upon parched Raifeng.

He told his soldiers that he would bring "hell's fire and brimstone upon them" if they failed to sit tight and disregard Feng.

This pleased General Feng not a whit.

"Curse the man for the devil that he is, thus threatening fire and brimstone, works of the devil both. I brought rain, now let us see him work his miracle of fire and brimstone."

Thus speaking he ordered forth his Eleventh Division, akin to the 12th Legion of Caesar's day. And they brought home the bacon, not the second flitch of Horace, but the head of General Wang.

His mutinous men were scattered like chaff before the loyal Eleventh Division who speedily rounded up General Wang.

"Where is that fire and brimstone," they asked the now craven crestfallen leader.

"I'm afraid General Feng's rainstorm has put it out," he replied.

"The joke is ended," sadly said Wang.

"And you are the butt of it," the soldiers declared.

So they led him out to the ride butts of his own troops where one volley ended the career of General Wang Chuan-kuei.

Profiteers Spend Lavishly For Gems

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 6.—Paris jewellers foresee the passing of the crisis in the trade that resulted from the dumping of about a billion francs worth of stolen, confiscated and smuggled jewels on the Paris market.

Mr. Leonard Rosenthal, the jewel expert employed to value the Hapsburg treasure, says the collapse in the precious-stone market was prevented only by the war's creation of enough profiteers to absorb the oversupply.

This flood of jewels, Mr. Rosenthal says, came in three waves. The first was brought by fleeing Russian aristocrats who smuggled out family fortunes in their hair or sewn in the linings of their clothing.

Sometimes valuable stones were swallowed to be recovered by the use of emetics, and were even embedded in the flesh.

One Russian prince sold for 5,500,000 francs a group of emeralds his ancestors bought two centuries ago for 480,000 francs. One of the Czar's emeralds was sold in Paris for 32 times its cost.

A Russian duke, congratulated upon selling his jewels for 10,000,000 francs replied:

"How can I live on 500,000 francs a year?"

His pre-war annual expenditures in Petrograd varied between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 francs.

The second wave consisted of jewels valued at 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 confiscated by the Soviets. The third wave was the dispersion of the collections of kings and kinglets, princes and dukes of Germany and Austria-Hungary.

The Hapsburg court furnished the treasure of 10 centuries and for this Emperor Charles' agents asked 50,000,000 francs but took between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000.

CHOW-SHEN

Mr. C. K. Chow, nephew of Ex-premier Chow Tsz-chi, was married to Miss Lily Shen at 6 o'clock on Saturday afternoon July 29 at the residence of the Ex-Premier, Recreation road, British Concession, Tientsin. Mr. Chow's brother acted as best man.

The wedding festivities commenced at six o'clock in the evening and lasted throughout the night. As usual with Chinese the bride was subjected to the usual playful torment by friends, while the guests were entertained by Chinese theatricals and music.

The bride was dressed in a white satin wedding gown with a long train, long white evil, and orange blossoms in foreign style. Prior to the marriage the bride arrived from Peking and, with her relatives, was staying at the Belmont Hotel.

Mr. C. K. Chow, now on the staff of the Peking-Mukden Railway, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, with Master of Arts degree. His earlier studies were at the Canton Christian College.

Miss Lily Shen, until recently a teacher in the Peking Higher Normal School, is a graduate of Oberlin. She completed earlier studies at a French Preparatory School in Shanghai, Kindergarten Course at a Chicago University, and the University of Michigan, where she met Mr. Chow.

Coal Strike Potentialities

IN his address to the coal operators and miners before hitting the home trail, President Harding laid before them a double program. During more than three months the mining of coal had been largely suspended, with the result of "panicky conditions which encouraged profiteering, menaced our industries and hampered our varied public services." The time had come when the Government, says a New York observer, felt "an obligation to see that the common American interests shall not be menaced by a protracted lack of fuel." The first requisite is that enough of the mines now shut down shall be opened for operation to provide for manufacture and transportation. The means to that end are sufficiently indicated by the precedents of similar strikes under Wilson and Roosevelt. A further brief delay would be granted the operators and strike leaders to settle their own disputes; but, that failing, "the servants of the American people will be called to the task in the name of American safety."

The second part of the program was of larger import. The underlying cause of this, as of other coal strikes, lies in the grotesque disorganisation of the industry—"the excess development of a producing capacity in both tonnage available and miners to work it." "No American activity can be held secure where employment is compensated on a base of half-time or two-thirds of the normal, natural work period of an American wage earner." In brief, the industry requires to be thoroughly overhauled and reorganised on a practical, economic basis. The precise method is not indicated, but for several weeks our dispatches from Washington have predicted an administrative tribunal on the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission. By the recent Packers and Stockyards act, an administrative tribunal was set up within the Department of Agriculture, with the Secretary as its chief. Secretary Hoover and Attorney General Daugherty have been practicing a similar method in regulating trade associations. A tendency toward this latter form of administration, centering in the Cabinet, is suggested by the prominence of Secretaries Fall, Hoover and Davis in the current negotiations.

President Harding is manifestly aware of the many objections to such an extension of the administrative tribunal. Repeatedly and eloquently he called upon miners and operators to do their own housecleaning. "The Government has no desire to intrude itself into the field of your activities." "We wish you who best know the way to solution to reach it among yourselves in a manner to command the sanction of American public opinion." But, failing to do that "with measurable promptness," the warring parties are informed that "Government aid will be available" at their call. Labor and capital have rights, "but, above all else, the American public has the right to be freed from these recurring anxieties."

Tiny Star Disclosed As Twins 380 Times Bigger Than The Sun

What is declared to be the outstanding astronomical discovery of recent times is described in the article which follows. The writer of the article is Prof. J. S. Plaskett, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, B. C. Fifty-two billions of miles from the Earth is the mighty star Plaskett. An airplane traveling 200 miles per hour would require 30,000 million years to reach this star. Prof. Plaskett describes the strange properties of the twin suns of this planet.

They burn at a temperature of 30,000 degrees Fahrenheit as they whirl around one another. One, the more massive, is seventy-five times the bulk of our sun, while the lesser of the blazing twins is sixty-three times heavier than our solar monarch. One is 15,000 times as bright as the sun, the other 12,000 times as bright, comparisons that entirely numb the imagination.

The twins Plaskett, the light from which started on its journey through space 5,000 years at least before there was any credible human history, are not newly discovered, since they were observed and listed three-quarters of a century ago, but their remarkable characteristics are newly discovered and described by Plaskett's service to science which has gained him the encomiums of the world. Prof. Jacoby of Columbia, whose articles concerning the twin suns immediately follows Mr. Plaskett's own summary of his investigations presented below, terms the Canadian's work the outstanding astronomical investigation of recent times.

Plaskett is more than five times as large as any other known heavenly body. At the request of The New York Herald, Prof. Plaskett has telegraphed to it the following article describing his discoveries.

Mr. Plaskett, confidently and positively picturing the twins, tells the world thus of a heavenly body far greater even than the great Betelgeuse, whose diameter is 300,000 miles.

Wonders Of Duplicate Suns Described

BY J. S. PLASKETT

Director Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Victoria, B.C.

Victoria, B.C., July 1.—The discovery and investigation by the writer of an exceptionally massive and bright double star and the known and deduced facts about this extraordinary system were presented at the last meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society at London, and a short summary in plain language of what we know about this body should be of interest to all.

The discovery, if such it may be called, is not of the star itself, for this has been catalogued and its position known for at least seventy years, but of its exceptional properties. The star is situated in the constellation Monoceros, which is adjacent to the east to the constellation Orion, the most beautiful and conspicuous group of stars in the sky. Orion is, however, a winter constellation, and is now in the same longitude as the sun and lost in his brightness. This is about ten degrees from the bright red star Betelgeuse, Alpha Orionis, the one whose diameter has recently been measured at Mount Wilson, and is on a line drawn between Betelgeuse and Procyon, nearly midway between the two, actually about two-fifths of the distance from Betelgeuse.

Unlike Betelgeuse, which is a conspicuous object above Orion's belt, this star is just beyond naked eye visibility except to the keenest eyesight on the clearest night. Even if it could be seen there is nothing to distinguish it from the two thousand other stars about the same brightness in the sky that are visible here. Nevertheless it is a most extraordinary object when its properties are known.

If the star is observed visually or photographed it exhibits no particular properties to distinguish it from thousands of other stars in the sky. It is only when its light is analysed by the spectroscope that we begin to realise wherein it differs from its neighbors. When the light of a star is analysed by the spectroscope and the spectrum recorded on a photographic plate we possess a wonderful fund of information about the star. The star spectrum is crossed by a greater or less number of spectrum lines, generally dark lines, rather rarely bright lines.

The positions of these lines tell us what elements are present in the atmosphere of the star, for the stars are gaseous and at high temperatures, and also the speed with which the star is approaching or receding from us. The relative intensity of these spectral lines enables us to determine in many stars how far away these bodies are, while the relative strength of different parts of the spectrums tells us how hot the star is.

Further information in regard to pressure and electrical condition can sometimes be obtained. It was when the light from this ordinary looking star was analysed by the spectroscope that the unique properties about to be discussed were discovered.

The first spectrum was photographed on December 16, 1921, and the lines in the spectrum showed that there were present in its outer luminous atmosphere the elements hydrogen, helium, nitrogen, silicon, calcium and possibly oxygen and magnesium. Further, the general character of the spectrum as regards the intensity of the different parts and the arrangement and strength of the elements present show that the star was an example of a rather rare class of stars, believed to be not only the very hottest of the stars but also the most massive. We have good reason to believe that this star is at a temperature of about 30,000 degrees Fahrenheit, several times as hot as it is possible to obtain heat in our laboratories, and that it is also consequently very bright.

We have good evidence to show that if we consider two small areas of this star and our Sun—say a square inch on each—the amount of light given out for a square inch on the star would be about forty times as great as the amount of light from a square inch of the sun. That is to say, if the star and our sun were the same size the star would be forty times as bright as the sun.

But examination of this first spectrum showed in addition that many of the lines due to hydrogen and helium were not single, as is ordinarily the case, but were double, the two parts of each line being displayed one part to the right and one part to the left to the normal position. The double lines are a sure indication that the object analysed consists not of one but of two stars too close together to be separated by any telescope, but yet each showing its presence by forming its individual lines in the spectrum.

The separation of these lines shows how fast the two stars are moving and the displacement on each side of the normal position shows that one is moving toward us and one away from us. In this particular case the strongest lines, those evidently belonging to the brighter star of the two, showed that this star was moving away from us at the rate of 101 miles a second, while the weaker lines belonging to the fainter star showed a motion toward us at the rate of 116 miles a second.

Stars showing such changing displacements of the spectrum lines are called spectroscopic binaries from their discovery by the spectroscope as distinguished from the ordinary visual binary, which appears double in the telescope. In most spectroscopic binaries only one spectrum can be seen and the binary character is shown by the varying displacements of the lines corresponding to changing velocity. There have been about 800 spectroscopic binaries discovered, of which this observatory is responsible for nearly one-quarter, but less than one-fifth of these show doubled lines and in only a very few is the velocity so great as above.

The very high speed of these two stars, and it seemed likely that the first plate would not show the maximum speed, was a certain indication that we had to do with an exceptional system, either that the pair were very massive, or very close to one another, or both. Consequently spectra were photographed as frequently as possible and the positions of the doubled lines were seen to be continually changing. Sometimes, the stronger lines were displaced to the red and the weaker to the violet end of the spectrum and sometimes the opposite was the case. The former indicated that the brighter star was receding, the fainter approaching us and vice versa.

Further spectra showed that the brighter star was revolving at a speed of 128 miles and the fainter at 154 miles a second and that took nearly fourteen and a half days to make a complete revolution around each other. A comparatively simple calculation then shows that the two bodies must be at a distance of about 55,000,000 miles apart, three-fifths the distance from the earth to the sun and slightly less than the distance of Venus from the Sun. If the two stars combined were of the same mass as Venus and the Sun they should revolve in about the same period, 225 days, but as a matter of fact, they revolve in fourteen days, one-fifteenth of the time and at a speed over seven times as great as Venus. This evidently indicates a very much stronger gravitational pull between the two bodies and a very much greater mass.

If we know the period of revolution and the separation of two bodies in space, two suns, or a sun and planet, or a planet and satellite we can easily calculate the mass of the two by a comparatively simple relation derived from the law of gravitation called the Harmonic Law. This law states that the combined mass of the revolving system is proportional to the cube of the separation divided by the square of the period. In all these calculations we use the Earth Sun system as the standard and as the earth has only one three hundred and thirty thousandths the mass of the Sun, it can be neglected and we get the mass of the required system in terms of the Sun's mass.

Hence in this case we have the double star revolving in a period of 14.4 divided by 365.25, about one-twenty-fifth of the Earth's period, the year, at a distance of 55,000,000 divided by 93,000,000, or about three-fifths the Sun's distance. From the Harmonic Law then the mass of this double star will be three-fifths cubed, divided by one-twenty-fifth squared the mass of the Sun, which comes out 135 times the Sun's mass. If we use the exact fractions we find that this system has 138.9 times the mass of the Sun, that the brighter star is 75.6 and the fainter 63.3 times the Sun's mass, or about four times greater than for any previously discovered system.

A further calculation from the spectroscopic observations shows that the two bodies are revolving in an ellipse around one another of nearly the same shape as the orbits of the planets. But the spectroscopic results cannot tell us anything of the inclination of the planet of this ellipse to the line of sight. If this plane passes through the earth, the distance and masses are as given above, but if not, they must be greater than calculated.

From considerations of the probable size of the two stars and their distances apart, it is practically certain that this plane is inclined more than fifteen degrees, else the two bodies would mutually eclipse each revolution and there would be a decrease in the line which has not been observed. This condition makes it probable the combined mass is 160 times the Sun, while if we consider all inclinations equally likely the probable average value would be 220 times the Sun's mass, will be more than 15,000 times as the Sun.

The very great mass of these two bodies shows that they must be exceptional in many respects and this discovery may require some revision of the theories of the formation and constitution of the stars. However that may be, we can easily deduce further interesting data about these two tremendous stars. I have already said that they are about forty times as bright as the Sun for each unit of area and as they are so much more massive they must be much bigger.

Two methods are available for determining how much brighter they are than the Sun. The first is wholly theoretical, developed by Prof. Eddington of Cambridge, from which we find that the brighter star is about 20,000 and the fainter 15,000 times as bright as the Sun.

However, there is some uncertainty about these values and we can use another method depending upon the surface brightness and the area of the stars. It is probable from various considerations that such excessively hot stars are very much less dense than the Sun, probably only one-hundredth as dense. As the brighter star has at least seventy-five times the mass and one-hundredth the density, it must have ... times the volume, or 19.5 times the diameter of the Sun. Its area will then be 19.5 squared times or 380 times the Sun and if as already stated this relativity is forty times as bright, it will be more than 15,000 times as the Sun.

It is admitted by Eddington that his computed values are somewhat too high for the very hot stars, so that we may take as a moderate estimate of the brightness that the brighter star is 15,000 and the fainter 12,000 times as bright as the Sun, much brighter than any known star in the sky. The second brightest known star is Rigel, which is, however, only half the brightness of this pair. Knowing the actual brightness 27,000 times the Sun, the apparent brightness, 6.1 magnitudes and the fact that the Sun would appear of the same brightness as this star if it were removed to a distance of sixty light years, makes the actual distance of this star sixty times the square root of 27,000, or about 10,000 light years.

This double star system is moving away from the Sun at the rate of fifteen miles per second, but there is also a cloud of calcium vapor either surrounding or else between us and the pair. The spectroscope shows this vapor to be moving away from us at a constant speed of ten miles per second. If this cloud surrounds the system, it should move with the same speed and a possible explanation of the discrepancy is the relativity shift of the spectrum lines.

Einstein's theory calls for three astronomical consequences: the advance of the perihelion of Mercury which is fully confirmed, the bending of light passing near the Sun, which has been observed at the 1919 eclipse, and is to be again observed in Australia on September 21, and a displacement of the lines of the spectrum of a heavy body to the red. This last effect for the Sun is equivalent to a speed of slightly less than half a mile per second away from us but it has not yet been definitely found in the Sun.

We may summarise then the principal facts that we have been able to deduce about this extraordinary double star merely from the quality of the light coming from it when analysed by the spectroscope.

The system which is 10,000 light years away consists of two enormous suns each at a temperature of about 30,000 degrees Fahrenheit, revolving around one another at a distance of about 55,000,000 miles at speeds of 124 and 154 miles per second respectively, in about 14.4 days. The brighter, heavier and slower of the two stars is nearly twenty times the diameter of the Sun, over seventy-five times as massive and 15,000 times as bright as the fainter, lighter and faster moving star and about eighteen times the diameter, over six-y-three times as heavy and 12,000 times as bright as the Sun. The velocity of the system, 15 fifteen miles per second away from the Sun as compared with ten miles per second of a surrounding or intervening cloud of calcium vapor. Although in the right direction, the difference is greater than can be explained by the relativity shift of the lines.

Although stars like Antares and Betelgeuse are much larger in diameter they are extremely tenuous and we have no information about their mass. This star, which is No. 1309 of the six degree zone of Argelander's catalogue, is especially remarkable for its enormous mass, about four times as great as any previously determined, and the discovery and investigation is important chiefly on that account and on its bearing on the theories of the constitution and development of the stars.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLAYDES, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed Castoria in families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."

British Reply To Germans Is Mild

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, August 1.—The British acknowledgement of Germany's request for a reduction of her private debts payments is much milder than the French Note of yesterday. The British reply states that the Government will discuss the question with the Allies as soon as possible with a view to delivering a joint reply.

Meanwhile, Germany, replying to the French Note, asserts the impossibility of her continuing the monthly payments of 50,000,000 gold marks towards the private debts account simultaneously with her reparation payments.

She protests at the French threats and says that she makes every effort to fulfill her obligations but that this presupposes her economic health, which can only be effected through speedy co-operation of all the Powers.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

August 2, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 1/16d. in London yesterday.

The New York price as well as the London-New York cross rate was unchanged.

The only change in our official quotations today was a drop in the Franc rate to 935.

Our market here throughout the day was steady and quiet.

Business in Sterling was done at 3-5 11-16 and in Gold Dollars at 77¼ and 77 5-16.

There were throughout the morning generally sellers at these quotations with buyers of Sterling at 3-5⅝ and of Gold Dollars at 77⅜.

Some business in Yen was done at 61 13-16.

At the close there were both buyers and sellers at this rate.

In spite of the drop in the Franc rate today there were few buyers of either Franc T. T. or Franc Bills.

Some business in T. T. was done at 950 and some bills were placed at 970.

However, banks were unwilling buyers at these rates.

There was a good demand today for Rupees in which business was done at 266¼.

There were buyers at this rate at the close.

The Continent sold a small amount of silver in London yesterday and India bought.

The market is reported as steady as is also the New York market.
